

ABSTRACT

Medical images from x-rays or the like are enhanced by characterizing pixels of the image as to the type of underlying tissue and selectively applying image enhancement techniques only to particular tissue types.

5407921_1.DOC

390086.95401